Next Council Meeting
August 2, 2019 | 10:00 a.m. – 11:30 a.m.
Dr. Muntu Davis
County Health Officer
Los Angeles County Department of Public Health

Dr. Muntu Davis is currently the County Health Officer at the Los County Department of Public Health (LACDPH). In this role, Dr. Davis serves as the Department’s medical expert regarding public health matters and provides guidance to leadership across the Department. Working in partnership with DPH colleagues and health professional organizations, he consults on, interprets, and enforces County and State laws and regulations to protect and promote the health and wellness of all residents of Los Angeles County.

Previously, Dr. Davis worked at the Alameda County Public Health Department (ACPHD) in Oakland, California, where he served both as Director since 2012 and as Health Officer since 2009. As the Director, he provided strategic and administrative leadership, direction and oversight to planning for a full range of public health activities for over 1.6 million county residents. In his role as County Health Officer, he led public health protection efforts, health policy development and served as an advisor to elected and appointed officials, members of the medical profession, and the public on matters affecting public health and safety. For the past decade, he has contributed to statewide and national discussions around how to elevate and implement a health equity framework within government agencies. Dr. Davis practiced medicine in urban and rural primary care and urgent care clinics in Northern and Southern California.

Dr. Davis has a MD degree from the University of California, Los Angeles. He completed The California Endowment Scholars in Health Policy Fellowship and received a MPH degree from Harvard School of Public Health in Boston, Massachusetts.
Summer 2019
SOUTH L.A. SCHOLARS

The Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce, in collaboration with Los Angeles Mayor Eric Garcetti, City of Los Angeles Economic & Workforce Development Department, Los Angeles Unified School District and Community Colleges have partnered to provide paid work experiences for South L.A. students enrolled in healthcare career pathways.

South L.A. Scholars are a distinguished group of students who are seeking meaningful employment this summer.

Don't miss the opportunity to inspire a young person from South L.A. by:
- Hosting high school students for 100 hours of paid work experience
- Positioning your employees as mentors and role models
- Allowing students to apply their classroom knowledge on the job
- Helping students develop their confidence, job skills and work ethic
- Encouraging students to bring new ideas and perspectives to your organization

Consider all the ways that a South L.A. Scholar could benefit your business:
- Develop social media content
- Support your customer service needs
- Maintain files and documents
- Clerical support, data entry, scanning and copying

"I was not only able to learn school and work skills, but also life changing skills."
